To whom it may concern:

I would like to formally submit the attached electronic document for ARB review. I realize that the deadline was October 1st but I just found out about this forum yesterday. Thank you very much for your consideration.

Take care,

Richard-

Thanks for your note! I have circulated your information to some of my colleagues and to the appropriate ETAAC members. There is also an opportunity to provide your information and suggestions to our climate change scoping plan process. Please visit the web page below where you will find information on how to submit. Please note that the final date was Oct. 1, but if you send your info tomorrow, it will still be useful.

Looking a little farther down the road, note that they are having a workshop on November 30 as part of this process, that you may want to participate in.

Finally, you may want to subscribe to our climate change list serve so you can keep yourself apprised of important events and dates in this process:

I hope all this helps! Good luck!

Steve
